CHARACTERIZING THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR MISSILE THREAT EBOOKS 2019

TECHNICAL REPORT
Characterizing the
North Korean Nuclear
Missile Threat
Markus Schiller

Author: Markus Schiller

Release Date: Expected @@expectedReleaseDate@@

The security community generally believes that North Korea has a relatively sophisticated guided ballistic missile program. This report questions this view and seeks to better characterize the North Korean missile threat. The author compares the available data on the North Korean missile program against five hypotheses about the program's origins, sophistication, and scale, highlighting inconsistencies.
